2017/10/13 (W5) Track 10: Fetal Echocardiography (Pre-Congress Program)

The pre-congress workshop on fetal echocardiography will provide a detailed day of instruction for anyone involved with the sonographic evaluation of the fetal heart—both in low-risk pregnancies (fetal cardiac screening) and in high-risk pregnancies (fetal echocardiography). The day will provide a series of clinically-oriented and state-of-the-art presentations that will provide the background, tools, and insights necessary to detect and evaluate major forms of congenital heart disease. Talks will range from basic and introductory concepts to highly sophisticated approaches and techniques. Everyone in attendance will be sure to leave with an improved ability to detect and evaluate fetal forms of heart disease.
